I. SIGNIFICANT ITEMS:

None.

II. OTHER ITEMS:

1. The Office of Personnel has now furnished us with the listing of Agency language competence reflecting all language data records (Form 444c) processed by them as of 31 December 1957. This listing has now grown to the point where it includes over  the line entries showing self-evaluated competences. Of the  IBM run lists  employees who have declared that they have no language competence.

2. We are beginning preparation of the March issue of the OTR Bulletin. School and Staff Chiefs are requested to announce at their weekly staff meeting that copy for the March issue is due by Friday, 17 February.

3. Of the three slots (one in each of three presentations) allocated the Agency in the Navy Price Analysis Course, two were assigned to the Office of Logistics and one to ORR. On Saturday, 1 February,  was contacted at home by the ORR employee scheduled to begin the class on Monday, 3 February. He advised that after discussions with the Logistics employee who had just completed the course, he and his office now felt that he did not possess the necessary background to either participate in the class or benefit from it. The Navy was notified on Monday that our candidate for the course had to be cancelled.

7. The OTR-IBM Master Code operation progresses. Of our original eight-girl crew, three have left for Agency assignments, but replacements arrived shortly thereafter. The quality of people thus far furnished us by the Office of Personnel is uniformly good. This record transposition job is exacting, and must advance in clearly defined work-stages.

8. We expect to furnish the Chiefs of Schools, about 14 February, all materials necessary for preparation of OTR Long-Term Schedules based on the fiscal year, 1 July 1958, through 30 June 1959.

12. Our new member, [REDACTED] assigned to the Information Section, is performing in a commendable manner. 13 February marks her first full month with R/TR. She has assisted in the preparation of an OTR Bulletin, several Special Bulletins, and certain statistical reports. She is doing an excellent job of revising the OTR (historical) course file folders to agree with the OTR-IBM Master Code index.
